DETAILED ACTION

1. This action is responsive to application filed on Oct. 24, 2000. Claims 1-36 are pending examination.

Specification

2. The lengthy specification has not been checked to the extent necessary to determine the presence of all possible minor errors. Applicant's cooperation is requested in correcting any errors of which applicant may become aware in the specification.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

3. Claims 1-13 and 25 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Shiigi, U.S. Patent No. 6,304,898.

As to claims 1, 13 and 25, Shiigi teaches a method, computer program code and a system for facilitating user interface roaming, comprising:

(a) receiving from the wireless link a list of usable interface clients in proximity to the wireless link, wherein each usable interface client has capabilities associated therewith (see col. 4 lines 43-62 and col. 3 lines 44-58);

(b) selecting one of the interface clients from the list (see col. 4 lines 43-col. 5 lines 12);

(c) notifying the wireless link of the selected interface client (see col. 6 lines 30-34 and col. 8 lines 16-30);

(d) initiating a connection with the selected interface client (see col. 6 lines 23-29);

(e) executing an application based on the capabilities of the selected interface client, wherein execution of the application generates content (see col. 6 lines 30-40);
and

(f) transmitting the generated content to the interface client (see col. 6 lines 41-64).

As to claim 2, Shiigi teaches the method of claim 1, further comprising receiving a notification from the wireless link that it has been activated, wherein the wireless link determines usable interface clients in proximity thereto upon activation thereof (see col. 6 lines 30-34 and col. 8 lines 16-30).

As to claim 3, Shiigi teaches the method of claim 1, wherein the connection with the selected interface client is initiated via the wireless link (see col. 3 lines 33-57).

As to claim 4, Shiigi teaches the method of claim 1, wherein the generated content is transmitted to the interface client via the wireless link (see col. 3 lines 33-57).

As to claim 5, Shiigi teaches the method of claim 1, wherein each interface client includes a display (see fig. 1 and fig. 1B).

As to claim 6, Shiigi teaches the method of claim 1, further comprising receiving information from the user based on the generated content, generating subsequent content based on the received information, and transmitting the subsequently generated content to the interface client (see col. 6 lines 23-64).

As to claim 7, Shiigi teaches the method of claim 1, further comprising:
receiving a notification that another interface client is proximate to the wireless link, querying a user whether the user would like to switch to the other interface client, and transmitting generated content to the other interface client upon receipt of a response from the user indicating that the user wants to switch to the other interface client (see col. 4 lines 43-col. 5 lines 12)

As to claim 8, Shiigi teaches the method of claim 1, wherein the wireless link receives the content if the list of usable interface clients includes zero usable interface clients in proximity to the wireless link (see col. 4 lines 43-col. 5 lines 12).

As to claim 9, Shiigi teaches the method of claim 1, further comprising: receiving information from the wireless link input by a user (see col. 6 lines 41-64).

As to claim 10, Shiigi teaches the method of claim 1, wherein the wireless link and the interface client are capable of communicating utilizing TCP/IP or IPX protocols (see col. 4 lines 26-42).

As to claim 11, Shiigi teaches the method of claim 1, wherein the wireless link has telephony capabilities (see col. 4 lines 5-12).

As to claim 12, Shiigi teaches the method of claim 1, wherein executing an application based on capabilities of the selected interface client further comprises uploading from a data store information relating to configuring the application based on the capabilities of the selected interface client (see col. 4 lines 43-col. 5 lines 12).

4. As to claim 13-24 and 26-36 do not teach or define any additional limitation over claims 1-12 and therefore are rejected for similar reasons.
